

General idea - Youth perspective

Submitted by Grailing Anthonisen on June 30, 2016

As a young person, I have been hearing and taught about climate change and the wreckage of our climate for almost as long as I can remember. It is frustrating for me that it is taking so long for our country to act comprehensively towards a solution. It's our government's job to be a leader in terms of fighting climate change and scaling back it's effects. Systemic changes are needed. It's been "the time to act" for decades. How about we do that?