

Incentives for all income levels to make their homes solar/passive solar

Submitted by Mira Dietz Chiasson on July 6, 2016

Making it possible for people of all levels of income to make the switch and turn their homes into carbon-neutral (or almost) places will create jobs, will provide a huge boost for Canada's renewable energy sector, and will encourage people to make more changes in their lives. If it's easy for them to make the first step, they will be willing to look for other things they can do to help.
